

Preparing the Administration of Glarus for a Potential Energy Shortage

We helped the canton of Glarus to develop a concept for business continuity management (BCM) for its administration. Using this concept as a guide, the canton's Energy Shortage BCM working group had the time-critical processes and the measures to cope with the impending energy shortage updated by the departments. We then checked the results for completeness and plausibility. Together with the working group, we identified the need for action and concrete measures for the Governing Council.

Our services

- Analyzing the cantonal administration's processes and resources
- Identifying measures to strengthen the critical processes
- Evaluating the survey on the administration's time-critical processes relating to an energy shortage situation
- Drafting of criticality tables with measures to cope with an energy deficiency situation, including effort estimates, responsibilities and status
