

Electromobility Consulting Services for Power Suppliers

EBP offers consulting services to power supply companies to help them secure optimal business development in the area of electromobility

EBP provides support for municipal and cantonal power suppliers in the process of developing strategies for new business models in the electromobility sector. We help power suppliers to develop strategies for business growth in the area of electromobility by organising workshops and market studies (with a focus on technological development, market penetration scenarios, customer-group acceptance levels) and conducting stakeholder, environment and SWOT analyses.
