

Applications

Our employees are our most important success factor. We want to attract highly qualified personnel and offer them the best possible conditions for long-term professional development. In addition to professional credentials, we also place a high value on social and communication skills. Given that many of our projects have an international focus, foreign language skills are also very important.

You can find our current job openings, apprenticeships and internships here. We are always interested in meeting qualified employees, so feel free to send an unsolicited application to our HR team too.

We look forward to hearing from you.
