

Climate-strategy guideline for municipalities

We provided the Swiss Federal Office for the Environment (FOEN) with technical expertise in the development of a guideline that can be used to draft a municipal climate strategy.

The guideline provides an eight-step approach that small and medium-sized municipalities can use to draft climate strategies (to help them reduce greenhouse gas emissions and/or adapt to climate change). In addition to providing templates, the guideline includes a collection of FAQs, numerous helpful resources, and examples of successfully implemented climate strategies.

Our services

- Technical review of the guideline's structure and content
- Provision of technical support (e.g. for template development, FAQ collection, and the selection of reference materials and climate-strategy success stories)
- Provision of editorial support
